If you have any trouble with your stomach why not take these tablets and get well? For sale by Anti-Monopoly Drug Store. m

DAVIS MEMORIAL DAY.

U. D. C., U. C. V. and S. C. V.
Made the Day a Notable One.

OLD VETS GIVEN BIG DINNER.

Orations, Medals of Honor Conferred, Graves Decorated, Rifles Fire Military Salute, Etc.

Wednesday was a memorable one in the Confederate memorial annals of Ocala.

About fifty Confederate Veterans were in attendance. A large number of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, the Sons of Confederate Veterans, members of the Ocala Rifles and many other friends participated in the exercises and the day was in every way an enjoyable and successful one.

About 11 o'clock the Confederate Veterans met in the council hall and several new names were enrolled as comrades.

Comrade Gray called the attention of the camp to the fact that a departed comrade's grave was unmarked and a committee was appointed to rescue it from oblivion.

Comrade W. W. Jackson touchingly called the attention of the camp to the speech of General Gordon at New Orleans proposing the erection of a monument to the Women of the Confederacy and the camp pledged to raise not less than $25, Mr. E. L. Carney heading the list with a contribution of $5. Comrade Long favored the proposition and made an eloquent address eulogizing the women in a most patriotic manner.

The camp then formed in line and the tent photographer took a picture of the group after which the comrades marched to the cafe of the Montezuma Hotel, where a most sumptuous dinner had been prepared for them by the patriotic women constituting the Dickinson Chapter of the U. D. C.

There was chicken, ham and other kinds of sandwiches, beef, pork, rice, breads of various kinds, salads, pickles, olives, tomatoes, ice cream, cakes, pies, coffee, lemonade, etc.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the procession formed in the front of the armory in the following order:

Marshal and aide.
Ocala Rifles.
Speakers in carriages.
Confederate Veterans.
Sons of Confederate Veterans.
Daughters of the Confederacy.
Citizens.

PROGRAM AT THE CEMETERY.
Prayer by Dr. Lindsay.
Remarks by Mr. F. E. Harris, master of ceremonies.

Address by Mr. Neil M. Allred.
War reminiscences and anecdotes by Judge W. M. Ives, of Lake City.
Presentation of crosses of honor.
Prayer by Rev. L. B. Warren.
Three volleys by Ocala Rifles.
Decoration of graves.

Mr. Hampton S. Chambers acted as Marshal and Mr. John H. Matthews, as aide. These gentlemen performed their part of the program in a most creditable manner.

Messrs. Hearn and Emmett Robinson furnished the music for the Rifles. Owing to the threatening appearance of the weather the orations were delivered in the court house instead of at the cemetery.

The building was comfortably packed.
Rev. W. C. Lindsay made a very eloquent and impressive prayer.

The master of ceremonies before introducing Mr. N. M. Allred, the orator of the occasion, briefly alluded to the civil war period and mentioned some modern northern writers as well as earlier ones conceding the constitutional right of secession and referred to the commission sent to the government at Washington imploring that the differences arising from the establishment of a separate government be adjusted on the lines of peace, equity and justice. He referred also to slavery and other collateral issues and made special reference to Jefferson Davis' dedication of his history to the Women of the South and thought it appropriate that they should have selected his anniversary for the celebration and also fitting that they should have selected a member of the Sons of Confederate Veterans for the orator for it is to them, we must look for a vindication of the south's attitude in that immortal struggle.

Mr. Allred fully sustained the expectations of his friends and for nearly an hour gave an able defense and a glowing tribute to the actors in that war, which he described as the "greatest and fiercest on record."

The young orator did not fail to withhold a full mead of praise to those in blue who fought and died. He said that both contributed to the grandeur of our country and illustrated the bravery and valor of American manhood.

At the close of Mr. Allred's admirable oration, Judge W. M. Ives, of Lake City, entertained in a pleasing manner, the old soldiers with reminiscences and anecdotes of the civil war period. Judge Ives' talk was one of the enjoyable features of the occasion and added much to the day's pleasure.

Mrs. Fannie R. Gary, president of the Dickinson chapter, then paid a fervid tribute to our recent dead, mentioning in affectionate terms the gallant Dickinson, Crawford, Frederick, Waters and others—she then conferred crosses of honor on Comrades P. H. Norris and J. F. Barrett. These crosses were pinned on these gallant men by little Misses Elizabeth Newson and Irma Blake.

The master of ceremonies on behalf of the Confederate veterans extended their thanks to the Daughters for their magnificent dinner, to the Rifles for their participation and to all others who in any way contributed to the success of the day.

Rev. L. B. Warren then pronounced the benediction and most of those present marched to the cemetery, in the order already named, where a salute of three volleys was fired over the graves of the departed veterans by the Rifles, their graves strewn with beautiful flowers and the ceremonies ended.

His Last Hope Realized.

(From the Sentinel, Gebo, Mon.)
In the first opening of Oklahoma to settlers in 1889 the editor of this paper was among the many seekers after fortune who made the big race one fine day in April. During his traveling about and afterwards his camping upon his claim, he encountered much bad weather, which, together with severe heat, gave him a very severe diarrhoea which it seemed almost impossible to check, and along in June the case became so bad he expected to die. One day one of his neighbors brought him one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy as a last hope. A big dose was given him while he was rolling about on the ground in great agony, and in a few minutes the dose was repeated. The good effect of the medicine was soon noticed, and within an hour the patient was taking his first sound sleep for a fortnight. That one little bottle worked a complete cure, and he cannot help but feel grateful. The season for bowel disorders suggests this item. For sale by Anti Monopoly Drug Store. m

Died Suddenly.

Mr. R. L. Parmenter, who spent a couple of months in this city last winter the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reagan, died suddenly at his home in Katawa, Kentucky, of stomach troubles last Tuesday. He was twenty eight years of age.

Mr. Parmenter is pleasantly remembered by many of our people who regret sincerely to hear of his death.
